PROJECTS

Mini Portable Air Conditioner

The current air-conditioning system cool by refrigerant gases such as Freon, CFCs, etc. While these refrigerants provide good output, their major disadvantage is the emission of harmful gases that damage the ozone layer. To achieve the goal that in spite of using harmful gas, this project works on simply electricity and uses minimal amount using peltier module as compared to modern air conditioner

Single-Axis Solar Tracker

This project enhances solar panel performance by autonomously adjusting their tilt angle to optimize sunlight exposure, increasing energy generation efficiency.
